NOT A DOLLAR NEED BE PAID

UNTIL CURED. All men whose lives have been jeopardized by patent remedies, free trial treatments, quacks, electric beits, secret appliances and countless humbugging devices will appreciate this grand offer, MY SUCCESS is the result of years of experience and a thorough scientific training in the best medical schools, colleges and hospitals of this country. I diagnose each care personally, make no promises I cannot keep, and if your disease is incurable tell you so at first consultation. Thus I make each patient my friend from the start. Could anything be fairer than the above offer? LOSS OF MANLY VIGOR

Is one of my specialties. Usually it is the result of some unnatural drain—conscious or unconscious, or of excess. The man who realizes that he is unfit for the society of the opposite sex, either through weakness or disease, is a most miserable creature. Night and day—mentally and physically, this haunts him so that his nerves become unstrung and lose their control. Then in quick succession follows Loss of Vigor, Loss of Flesh and Appetite until the poor victim is tortured by hallucinations and dreams at night, which sap the strength and make natural sleep impossible. I stop all losses and Grains and restore all the glorious health and strength of perfect manhood.

ing has been started to prepare teams for the National Gymnastic Championship of the Amateur Athletic Union, which will be held at Buffalo on August 24.

It was arranged to hold the contests during the Pan-American Exposition, so as to secure a greater representation, as many of the best gymnasts of the country are contemplating a visit to the Exposition.

The prizes this year are also more attractive, and the fact that the events will be decided in the open air, in the arena of the Stadium, is another innovation that is satisfactory. The events, which are open to all amateurs in good standing, are as follows: Parallel bars, long horse, side horse, swinging Indian clubs, rope dimbing for speed, individual tumbling, horizontal bar, flying rings and standing apparatus.

Beccial prizes, in addition to the regular championship medals, will be awarded. There will be a separate set of medals for the three contestants scoring the greatest number of points in the standing apparatus the three contestants scoring the greatest number of points in the standing aparatus cusses Racing Affairs. Overton, president of the American Congress, spent Wednesday in St. Turf Congress, spent Wednesday in St. Louis. Mr. Overton came up from his home in Nashville to have a conference with C. A. Tilles and Sam W. Adler. In addition to being at the head of the Turf Congress Mr. Overton is also president of the Cumberland Park Jockey Club at Nashville. His track will give a spring meeting after Memphis closes. There are over 150 head of horses at Nashville and as many more are expected from Memphis. Tom Haynes, John Schorr and other prominent turfmen have promised to send horses to Nashville. When esked as to the report that the Western Jockey Club had been trying to coax Nashville to desert the Turf Congress and seek a liceme from the Chicago organization, Mr. Overton said:

Overton said:

"All I know about the matter is what I read in the papers. Cumberland Park has sought no favors from the Western Jockey Club. We only race five days, and we don't intend to have any outsiders dictate to us as to how we shall conduct our business. E. B. Gardner had a conference with several prominent Western Jockey Club people at Louisville the other day, but he talked to them as an individual breeder and not as our representative. Mr. Gardner has his stable, headed by Bangle, at our track. Bangle is about the best handicap horse in the West. Mr. Gardner, like all the rest of the big breeders of Tennessee, would like to see the Western turf muddle straightened out.

Than Five Minutes. Nouroulah, the giant wrestler, had no trouble in throwing two men in rapid succession at the Standard Theater Wednesday night. The first opponent to face the 349 pounds of "terrible" was heraided as an "unknown" from Chicago, but he gave his name as Donnelly. The man from the windy city weighed fully 200 pounds less than Nouroulah and was in the Turk's hands as a rat in the paws of a Great Lange Wen. as a rat in the paws of a Great Dane. Don-nelly's shoulders went to the mat at the end of one minute and thirty seconds, and there was an expression of relief in the face of the Chemres.

end of one minute and thirty seconds, and there was an expression of relief in the face of the Chicagoan.

When Max Luttbeg was announced as the second man to try his luck against the Turk, wise ones looked for a few minutes of fast wrestling, as Luttbeg promised to use every iota of his extensive knowledge of the sport. He did, and exhausted it all in just three minutes, when his shoulders came in contact with the mat rather suddenly. At one time Luttbeg got behind Nouroulah with the latter on the mat, but when he tried to encircle the massive body with his arms, and found that he could not secure a fair grip with his hands, he turned about with an expression which said very plainly, "It is no use."

Charles Wittmer, who is to wrestle with Nouroulah at the Coliseum next Monday night, arrived in the city Wednesday, and was a witness of the contests Wednesday night. Wittmer, who wrestled three hours to a draw with Yousoff, the teacher of Nouroulah, expressed himself as confident of getting the better of the argument, although he had never seen so large a man before, and says that the present "Terrible Turk" is much larger and apparently stronger than the last man who bore that name, or even than Yousoff himself. Wittmer appears to be in first-class condition, and states that he has reduced more than twenty pounds in training, and now weighs 210 pounds. He will do his training at the Business Men's Gymnasium, and will give several exhibitions with his two trainers, who came from Cincinnati with him.

It is expected that Wefers will turn out to be a great outfielder, owing to his marvelous speed. On paper he should beat some stars out of their jobs before he is long in the game. He is a left-handed batter, and his speed will get him to first base on hits which would be called out on nine out of ten clever batters. That same speed enables Wefers to cover acres of ground in the outfield.

The Animosity 161 Punctual ... Nobleman went away heads apart. The quartet raced as one horse to the half-mile pole, and a shout went up from the grand stand. At this point Farmer Bennett was pinched off and dropped out, and almost every inch of the ground was stubbornly fought by the other three to the wire, Cavlar winning by J. Winkfield's superior strength. The Unknown was only a short nose behind Caviar, and Nobleman an eyelash behind The Unknown. It was a beautiful race, and the spectators showed their approval by an ovation.

The first race went to Miss Blarney, after a hard drive from Esternell and Marie Bell. Miss Charlie, well played, won the second by a nose from H. L. Coleman, a nose in front of Kaloma, a nose in front of Kaloma, a nose in front of Drummond.

MR. BURKETT GETS IN LINE.

Recalcitrant Left Fielder Signed a Contract Early Thursday Morning-Sprinter Wefers Secured.

Outfielder Jesse Burkett signed s contract to play with the St. Louis Club in 1901 at 1 a. m. Thursday. The great hitter is now a member of the St. Louis team.

There will not be a baseball game at League Park on Thursday. Owing to the inclement weather, the opening of the season has been postponed. Manager Donovan announced Wednesday night that he had signed Bernard J. Wefers, the celebrated college sprinter, for the St. Louis club. Wefers will be substitute outfielder. He was rated the fastest man that ever ran during the season of 1808. His record for 100 yards is 9 3-5 seconds. He ran 300 yards in 30 seconds. Wefers will arrive in St. Louis on Friday afternoon.

Thursday Game Schedule. National League.
Chiesgo at St. Louis.
Pittsburg at Ch.
Boston at New York.
Brook. at Phil.

There will not be any baseball game at League Park on Thursday afternoon. The opening of the season has been postponed to Friday. At 6 p. m. Wednesday the baseball field was inches deep in water. At 11 p. m. the water was deeper, and, it was raining steadily. The chances were that if the sun did come out with June strength in the morning, the diamond would not be dry enough by $30 p. m. to permit playing.

The late spring has hurt baseball very much. There has not yet been one day or which a man felt like playing baseball or watching a game. In former seasons the trees were in full foliage at this time. Now they have not even filled their buds. The season is fully three weeks late.

Rich Stakes at Tanforan,

San Francisco, Cal., April 17.—The Western Foal Stakes, the feature of the card at Tanforan Wednesday, went to Corrigan, who won, driving, by over a length from Flora Pomona and Doreen, the favorite. Owing to his impost of 126 pounds, Corrigan receded in the betting, while the money went on Doreen. Evander and Flora Pomona set the pace, but Corrigan assumed the lead in the stretch. The event was valued at $3.950.

Herculean, the favorite, Dunboy and Favorsham fell in the hurdle race. Cains, the rider of Herculean, sustained a broken collar bone, while Delconte, who rode Dunboy, was badly shaken up.

Sam Howard, backed from 8 to 1 to 4½, won by a neck from J. O. C. The race had a bad look.

After the fifth race Carruthers & Shields claimed Dangerous Maid for $900. Sam Hildreth, her owner, secured Sir Hampton for $900, and Doss & Co., owners of Parmenion, took Precursor for $1,000. of Parmenion, took Precursor for $1,000.

they have not even filled their buds. The season is fully three weeks late.

There will be a downtown parade Friday morning, weather permitting. It will take in all the principal thoroughfares. The players of the St. Louis and Chicago clubs will be there in carriages. The club owners will ride at the head of the procession. Civic functionaries, particularly those of outgoing tendencies, will also be seen in the parade. The outgoing civic magistrates have keen eyes on season passes. Hence they will be very much at the front with the "boost." Being sure of passes incoming nabobs may not be so industrious with the glad hand shake.

Last night Mr. Donovan, who manages the club, said that Powell and Ryan would probably be the battery on Thursday, but added that his mind might change at the last minute.

The Chicago team arrived at the Southern during the evening. Manager Loftus has a strange crowd with him. Callahan's tall form is sadly missed. Griffith, a landmark of ten years' standing, is also gone. Jimmie Ryan, who was with the club for night twenty years, is among the missing. It is a strange-looking club from the one Anson toted about not many seasons ago, just as strange as the St. Louis club is compared with the club Pat Tebeau brought here just two years past. Time makes changes in ball clubs.

Mr. Loftus thinks well of his team, even changes in ball clubs.

Mr. Loftus thinks well of his team, even if it is one of youngsters and oldsters hastly thrown together. He naturally deplores the loss of the three great pitchers, Callahan, Griffith and Garvin. Yet he feels that certain insurrectionary elements have been removed, and that his men will work with a harmony that has not been seen in the Chicago club for years and years.

The batting order for the opening game will be as follows:

Met Mr. Robison in Southern Hotel

There was a deal of interest attached to the signing of Jesse Burkett last night. Mr. Robison was sitting in the corridor of the Southern Hotel talking to a friend. Through the big lobby stood knots of players of the Chicago and St. Louis teams. Manager Donovan hove in sight with Burkett in tow. Mr. Robison saw the pair and arose to greet them. The trio walked and arose to greet them. The trio walked to a corner near the Walnut street entrance.

There was some earnest talking, Donovan doing it. Mr. Robison and Burkett sat on each side of the manager, listening attentively. The groups in the corridor wanted to be polite, but they could not kelp looking around anxiously every now and then, for they knew that the conference meant the fate of the St. Louis club and the greatest hitter known to baseball. Heldrick, Dexter, Eason, Chance and other players standing around had to take what they called a "rubber."

around had to take what they called a "rubber."

Mr. Robison spoke to Burkett for a moment. When he ceased the player had an emphatic say. Then J. D. Rockefeller Donovan came in with a barrel of standard oil and poured it on the troubled waters. Again Mr. Robison spoke, and again Burkett replied. Then the club owner put forth his hand. The player immediately grasped it. The little knots in the corridor then knew Burkett belonged to St. Louis.

There was a rush for the group and congratulations were loud. gratulations were loud.
"Who gave in?" cried Heidrick, who does not care what he says.
"Both of us," said Burkett, as he grinned.
"That's right,' said Mr. Robison.
"I was wrong, I guess,' said Burkett, "but

"Well, Jesse," said Mr. Robison, "I daresay we were both wrong; but it was not a question of money, was it?"
"No." said Mr. Burkett, "and as we both won, I daresay principle is vindicated." Notes of Amateur Baseball Clubs.

Another season of the National League of baseball clubs, beains Thursday and, not-withstanding the turmoil, confusion and deplorable attempts to wreck baseball teams characteristic of the unpleasantness of the last three months, there is some reason to believe that a more successful career is at hand than was expected in 1990.
